 GENERAL MESSAGE TO ALL GALILEO USERS *****

GALILEO GSAT0210 REMOVED FROM ACTIVE SERVICE

Galileo GSAT0210 has experienced an outage started on 30 April 2023 and users were informed via NAGU#2023032. The cause of the outage has been identified and the Programme has taken the decision to remove the Galileo GSAT0210¹ satellite from active service until further notice, following NAGU#2023048.

This change in the Galileo constellation will be reflected into the GSC web page, under "Reference Constellation Orbital and Technical Parameters".

It is reminded that such constellation is the reference constellation ensuring the fulfilment of the Minimum Performance Levels published in the currently in-force OS and HAS Service Definition Documents.

¹ The satellite is occupying a nominal orbital slot however it will not be contributing to the Galileo Services.
